

Ramadan Reflection ò

Week 4, 2022

When I was growing up, Ramadan was always a special time when my family and community came together. Having no food and water during the day was always hard, but the fun we had at night being together was always great. As I grew, I learned more about the significance of Ramadan and the blessing it truly is.